4D Developers,

If you're interested in giving components a try, download the free Foundation Logging component. This component, along with the full source code, is being released at no charge to introduce 4D developers to 4D's powerful component system.

The Foundation Logging component is a stand-alone component (no other Foundation components are required) that logs text messages to an external, tab-delimited text file. It can be a tremendous help when trying to track down intermittent problems in a compiled database. The component can easily be installed into any 4D 2003 or 4D 2004 database.

And in case you missed it, the Foundation Passwords component is also available free of charge:
